NOTES

- SLIDING ADJUSTABLE BACKRESTS: The backrest has a unique manual sliding system that can customize your comfort by increasing or decreasing the seat depth as you wish. The different positions of the backrest assist your preferable way to relax. The backrest operates as follows: At first you need to slide the backrest all the way to the back, to then slide it forward, finding the best position you want to keep it fixed, for back support. The backrest can have 20 positions
- ADJUSTABLE ARMS: the arms are equipped with a manual ratchet mechanism that you can adjust:
  - for major arm support during formal seating.
  - for extra head support, in case you would like to lay down, in horizontal position.
- Its versatility includes two new elements that can be smartly used to complement your configurations:
  - a “self-standing backrest” (vers. 436)
  - a “self-standing armrest” (vers. 437)

Both are independent versions that “self-stand” thanks to a carefully studied weight placed internally in their base. You can feel free to move them around and place them as needed on the seating surface to easily provide back and arm support.

- To allow modularity, the single elements can be put together thanks to the rubber stops under the legs.
- 212 version to be used only as a chaise longue while the 429 as a rectangular corner. These versions have same dimensions and look similar, but they differ from each other by the stitching.
  - > 429 version has extra stitching placed on the short side.
  - > 212 version has no stitching on all sides.
